Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mull (USPN 6898575) (hereinafter referred to as Mull) in view of Costin, IV et al (USPAP 20020049816) (hereinafter referred to as Costin).

Re claims 1-15: Mull teaches a method for soliciting donations over a network of computers, the method comprising the steps of: defining the terms of a challenge (col. 8, lines 19-26; col. 2, lines 57-61)

Mull does not explicitly teach generating an invitation to donate including the terms of the challenge; and sending the invitation to donate to at least one invitee with a computer connected to the network of computers. Costin teaches generating an invitation to donate including the terms of the challenge; and sending the invitation to donate to at least one invitee with a computer connected to the network of computers (sections 0010, 0019 and 0084). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Mull to include these steps as taught by Costin. One would have been motivated to do so in order to send out invitations to potential donors in a more efficient way, thereby saving time.

Claims 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mull in view of Costin as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Himmelstein (USPAP 20020032643) (hereinafter referred to as Himmelstein).

Re claims 16-20: Mull does not explicitly teach transferring stock certificates using a web-based donation application from a donor to a recipient. Himmelstein teaches transferring and donation of stock (sections 0024 and 0104). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Mull to include this step as taught by Himmelstein. One would have been motivated to do so in order to allow donors transfer stock certificates without redeeming the stock and possibly incur a taxable event.
